

Anadromous Fish Law Memo

The StreamNet Library received permission to digitize and provide electronic access to all issues of the Anadromous Fish Law Memo published from 1979-1990. We would like to thank the publication's former editor, Professor Michael Blumm from Lewis & Clark College's Northwestern School of Law and Oregon State University's Extension/Sea Grant Program, former distributor of the publication, for their permission and support. We are also grateful to Library volunteer Ed Kazzimir who played a critical role ushering the project from conception to completion.

Issue 1, June 1979: Anadromous Fish and Federal Water Projects in the Columbia Basin

Issue 2, July 1979: Supreme Court Upholds Boldt Decision

Issue 3, September 1979: Anadromous Fish and Federally-Licensed Columbia River Dams

Issue 4, October 1979: The Pacific Northwest Power Bill and Anadromous Fish Protection

Issue 5, December 1979: The Columbia River Conference: A Synopsis

Issue 6, March 1980: The Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act and Columbia Basin Water Project Operations

Issue 7, April 1980: Odd Man Out Wins a Preliminary Victory: An Analysis of the Supreme Court's Decision in Idaho v. Oregon and Washington

Issue 8, June 1980: The Crown Zellerbach Salmon Hatchery Permit Appeal: A Case Study of Decision-Making in the Face of Scientific Uncertainty

Issue 9, August 1980: Developments in Pacific Northwest Fisheries Law

Issue 10, October 1980: Operation of the Federal Columbia River Power System and the Structuring of Administrative Decision-Making

Issue 11, January 1981: The Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act: A Preliminary Analysis

Issue 12, April 1981: Indian Treaty Fishing Rights and Protection of the Environment

Issue 13, May 1981: Implementing the Regional Power Act: An Analysis of Some Pressing Issues

Issue 14, July 1981: BPA Proposes Draft Power Contracts that Compromise Fish and Wildlife

Issue 15, August 1981: The Salmon and Steelhead Enhancement Act of 1980: Laudable Objectives, Little Funding

Issue 16, December 1981: Fish and Wildlife Program Recommendations Submitted to Regional Council

Issue 17, April 1982: Fish and Wildlife Program Approval Issues: A Legal Perspective on Scientific Proof, Economic Cost, and Indian Treaty Rights

Issue 18, May 1982: Hydropower System Planning and Operations and the Enfranchisement of Fish and Wildlife

Issue 19, September 1982: A Reexamination of Columbia Basin Fish and Wildlife Program Issues

Issue 20, January 1983: Fish and Wildlife Protection Outside the Columbia River Basin Under the Northwest Power and Conservation Act

Issue 21, March 1983: Securing a Fair Share: Indian Treaty Rights and the "Comprehensive" Plan for the Columbia River

Issue 22, July 1983: An Evaluation of the Columbia Basin Fish and Wildlife Program

Issue 23, August 1983: Developments in the Law: 1979-1983

Issue 24, March 1984: Funding and Other Implementation Challenges to the Columbia Basin Fish and Wildlife Program

Issue 25, May 1984: Oregon's Wild Fish Management Policy: Large Promises, Few Deliveries

Issue 26, July 1984: Supreme Court, Ninth Circuit Decisions Curb FERC Hydroelectric Authority: Good News for Fish and Wildlife

Issue 27, August 1984: Regional Council Proposes 5-Year Action Plan and Other Amendments to the Columbia Basin Program

Issue 28, October 1984: Ninth Circuit Orders an EIS on BPA's Power Sale Contracts

Issue 29, May 1985: The International North Pacific Fisheries Commission: A Thirty-Year Effort to Manage High Seas Salmon and Some Suggestions for the Future

Issue 30, June 1985: Restoring Columbia Basin Salmon under the Northwest Power Act: A Report on the Experiment and a Look at Some Storm Clouds on the Horizon

Issue 31, July 1985: Cumulative Impacts of Hydropower Development Under the National Environmental Policy Act: The Requirement of a Basin-Wide Approach

Issue 32, August 1985: Workshop on the Late, Great Columbia River Fishery (Part I) - History of the Fishery and Ongoing Restoration Efforts

Issue 33, September 1985: Workshop on the Late, Great Columbia River Fishery (Part II) - "Salmon and the Law"

Issue 34, November 1985: The Failure of the Fish Passage Provisions of the Columbia Basin Fish and Wildlife Program and Some Suggested Remedies

Issue 35, March 1986: Small Scale Hydropower and Anadromous Fish: Lessons and Questions from the Winchester Dam Controversy

Issue 36, July 1986: Ninth Circuit Upholds Constitutionality of the Northwest Power Planning Council

Issue 37, October 1986: Livestock Grazing in Riparian Zones: Ensuring Fishery Protection in Federal Rangeland Management

Issue 38, November 1986: The Failed Promise of the Columbia Basin Fish and Wildlife Program and What to Do About It

Issue 39, February 1987: Restoring the Columbia's Upriver Runs: A Variety of Perspectives (Part I)

Issue 40, March 1987: Restoring the Columbia's Upriver Runs: A Variety of Perspectives (Part II)

Issue 41, May 1987: National Forest Planning and Anadromous Fish Protection: A Trilogy of NEPA Cases

Issue 42, August 1987: Fish and Wildlife Preservation, Environmental Protection, and the Northwest's Electric Power System: A Panel of Views

Issue 43, November 1987: Fish and Power in the Columbia Basin: Past and Future

Issue 44, January 1988: Habitat Protection and the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act Amendments of 1986

Issue 45, April 1988: Anticipating the "Blue Revolution": The Growth of the Salmon Farming Industry and Its Public Policy Implications

Issue 46, August 1988: A Guide to Federal Wetlands Protection under Section 404 of the Clean Water Act

Issue 47, December 1988: Implementing the U.S.-Canada Pacific Salmon Treaty: Two Perspectives

Issue 48, January 1989: Native Fishing Rights and Environmental Protection in North America and New Zealand: A Comparative Analysis

Issue 49, October 1989: Pluralism and the Environment: The Role of Comment Agencies in NEPA Litigation

Issue 50, August 1990: Anadromous Fish Law: 1979-90